

Job Opportunity – CNC Pressbrake Operative

Purpose of job

Ackerman are looking for a trainee or experienced CNC Pressbrake Operative to join the folding team. Under supervised conditions your daily job activities and responsibilities will be focussed on learning how to set and operate our current range of Bystronic CNC pressbrake bending machines.

About

Ackerman are a sub-contract precision sheet metal fabricator. Our components and fabrications are used across the UK, throughout Europe and beyond. Customers tend to be OEMs in fields such as electronics, security, transport, hydraulics, nuclear, plastics as well as medical and construction.

Key Responsibilities

- To learn and perform all aspects of CNC programming, tooling selection and the safe operations of all machines within the folding cell.
- To ensure that all folded parts are correct to drawing specifications and quantity requirements at all times.
- To ensure parts are safely stacked in accordance to individual job routing document requirements, enabling parts to be easily moved to the next required manufacturing process.
- To ensure that work schedules are followed, and to immediately report issues why this may not be possible.
- To ensure that all machine and personal safety procedures are followed at all times.
- To adhere to all factory health & safety issues together with good housekeeping within your own appointed working area.
- When requested, to make yourself available for overtime when business demands necessitate extra hours to be worked to fulfil customer delivery/schedule dates.

Other Responsibilities:

- To adhere to all factory health & safety issues together with good housekeeping within your own appointed working area.
- When requested, to make yourself available for overtime when business demands necessitate extra hours to be worked to fulfil customer delivery/schedule dates (overtime will be paid).
